

Sharing Stories

Stories are shared for different reasons. Some stories teach a lesson, some stories explain things, and some are just plain silly. It's fun to retell people silly stories. Let's start by going to the link below.

<http://www.antbee.com/default.asp>

Click on the "More Stories" link and read at least 4 of the stories. Click "More Stories" to get back to the list.

Which story did you think was the "silliest"?

Which story was silly and taught a lesson?

Pick one of the stories to share with your family tonight. Go back and reread it a couple of times so that you remember it.

What was the lesson?

Use the link below to read some stories from around the world. Click on the word "English" to read these stories in English. Read stories from 4 different countries. <http://www.miscositas.com>

Title of Story-
Country-

Title of Story-
Country-

Click in the shapes to add
your information.

Title of Story-
Country-

Title of Story-
Country-

Stumper Question!!! What is one thing that all of your stories had in common?

Answer -